

Stanford | Bing Nursery School

THE KORDESTANI PROGRAM FOR PARENTS AND EDUCATORS

Choosing Quality Children's Literature

Join us for a virtual conversation.

Hosted by Teacher Mischa Rosenberg, Bing's Children's Librarian

Date:

Thursday, May 27, 2021

Time:

9:30 – 10:30 am

Location:

Online Via Zoom

We all hear "reading to your children from a young age is important" but what does that really mean? Why is reading aloud and having access to quality children's books important and how does it help in young children's development? How do we evaluate what 'quality' means when we try to choose books online, in a library or in a bookstore? How can adults look for books that will engage children and that also invites them into early or independent reading? Are there 'right books' and 'not right books' out there? Bing's children's librarian Mischa Rosenberg will address these kinds of questions, as well as share books and book lists to get you started. Please bring your questions and your own children's book recommendations to share in the discussion!

These events are open to adults of the Bing Nursery School Community
